

PSALM 93

Geneva, 1562

1. The LORD is King, en-robbed in maj-es-ty;

He girds Him-self with strength and eq-ui-ty.

There-fore the world, es-tab-lished by His hand,

can-not be moved but shall for-ev-er stand.

2. Firm from of old has stood, O LORD, Your throne;
from everlasting You are God alone.
To You the seas have lifted up their voice,
the pounding waves that in their strength rejoice.
3. But mighty though the thundering floods may be,
far mightier than the breakers of the sea
is He, the LORD, who sits enthroned on high,
the King whose name we praise and glorify.
4. Your word stands firm, in Your decrees we trust;
Your statutes are dependable and just,
and holiness, O LORD whom we adore,
befits Your house, now and for evermore.
